Daniel B. Clark.

POMONA, Calif. (AP) — Daniel Bryan Clark, 71, award-winning cameraman and onetime director of photography at 20th Century-Fox, died of a stroke Thursday night at a hospital in Montclair.

Clark joined 20th Century in 1919 as a cameraman and headed the photography department for 15 years. The studio said he was instrumental in winning a dozen Academy Awards for photography for 20th Century and Clark himself won two Oscars for technical achievements.

Obituary for Daniel Bryan Clark (Aged 71)

Clipped By:

edhill54
Sun, Aug 2, 2020